Legal basis for data collection

We collect personal data on the basis of Article 6, paragraph 1 of the GDPR, specifically with reference to:

- The consent of the person concerned
- The fulfillment of a contract or the implementation of pre-contractual measures
- The fulfillment of a legal obligation
- The preservation of legitimate interests of the person responsible

What personal data we collect

With respect to the legal obligation and the requirement of fulfillment of the contract, we collect names, contact details, position in the company of employees of our customers, suppliers, distributors, and business partners in general.

Insofar as we are legally obliged to do so, in addition to the aforementioned Data also personal data relating to the credit and security check of individuals. This includes all personal data that is provided in an official document of the country of residence of the data subject (passport).

If the collection of personal data requires the consent of the data subject, we will inform you in the context of the request for consent to data processing about the type of personal data that we collect and process.

Duration of data storage

We apply a general rule that personal data will only be stored for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes for which it was collected. However, under certain circumstances, we reserve the right to store your personal information for a longer period of time, e.g. For example, if we need to do so in accordance with legal, tax and accounting requirements.

In certain circumstances, we may also keep your personal information for a longer period so that we can monitor your dealings with us in the event of complaints or challenges.

Purpose of data processing

If the legal basis for the collection of personal data is a legal obligation on our part, we process the data collected exclusively for the purpose required by the relevant law.

If the legal basis for the collection of the personal data is the fulfillment of existing contracts and / or pre-contractual measures (thus the business relationship in general), we process the collected data exclusively for the purpose of communication with you, whereby in this case the communication exclusively on agendas such pre-contractual measures, contract fulfillment and execution, post-contractual measures such as support, maintenance, etc. relates. Expressly excluded from this are marketing measures.

If the collection of personal data requires the consent of the data subject, the purpose of the data processing will be communicated to you in the respective request for consent.

Revocation of consent

If the legal basis for the collection of personal data is the consent of the data subject, you are entitled at any time to revoke your consent.

Since we are required to document both the consent and the revocation of consent, it may be necessary that your declaration of revocation of the consent on a certain medium (website, e-mail, contact form) is performed.
